

Newsletter #13

Dear friends of AVTECH!

We hope that you are staying safe and healthy during these challenging times. The world is slowly opening up again and we hope that many airlines soon are back in the air where they belong.

For cargo airlines this spring have been busy and we have an increased number of pilots from cargo airlines signing up on proFLIGHT. We have postponed the payment solution of the app due to the pandemic, as there are fewer pilots flying and we want to support the ones that still do with more accurate weather predictions and wind optimization.

Our hopes are that the industry will begin to slowly return to normal. Many airlines have announced that they will start flying some of their routes during the summer, which makes us happy. In the "new normal" after the COVID-19 crisis we believe it will become even more important for airlines to provide their passengers with safer, more comfortable and timely flights. At the same time the environmental effect of flying will continue to be highlighted. This will likely create an increased demand for accurate decision support information and AVTECH's services in the cockpit.

Our plans ahead are to release a payment solution for proFLIGHT. Right now, we have users from almost 200 airlines over the world. A new webpage will also be presented in the near future.

For events and conferences later this year, we will update you when we have more information. However, after the summer we will host a webinar with Aircraft IT. If you have suggestions or input on topic for that webinar, something you would like to be explained about AVTECH please reach out to us at sales@avtech.aero.

Take care,

The AVTECH Team